Zerodegrees is proud to be part of the emerging popularity of fresh beers brewed by micro breweries. British beer drinkers are realising that there is a world of beer to explore.

It is not just the variety that is important, freshness, quality and flavour are what differentiates Zerodegrees beer from that of the filtered and pasteurised beer of the big industrial breweries.

The yeast is left alone in our beer to mature and compliment the flavour of the beer. Also, we do not add any artificial colouring, preservatives or sweeteners

At Zerodegrees we strive to serve you the freshest and most flavoursome beer around. Our beers and ales are available to go in 5 litre party kegs.
