GLOSSARY

Amrut Fusion — Oaky and rich with subtle peat, dark chocolate and fruit.

Amrut Peated Malt — Fruity with subtle peat smoke.

Amrut Portnova — Bursting with tropical fruits with hints of cinnamon.

Amrut Single Malt — Hints of toffee, creeping malt and biscuit.

Arbikie Chilli Vodka — Spicy and intense. Feel the burn.

Arbikie Kirsty's Gin — Sweet and floral. Like skimming through the Botanics

Benedictine — Big hit of cinnamon, winter spice and herbs. It's pure festive like.

Cocchi Americano — Subtle bitter and lingering orange aperitivo. Sweet in it's own way.

Cocchi Rosa — Sweet strawberry, rose petals and herbs make up this smooth sipper.

Cocchi Vermouth di Torino — Hints of dark chocolate, fruit, liquorice and citrus zest.
Like nostalgic sweeties.

Diplomatico Blanco — Ground coffee, vanilla, and I could swear that was buttered toast.

Diplomatico Exclusiva — Rich with hints of ginger, dark chocolate, toffee, and even Christmas cake.

Diplomatico Reserva — Rich and smooth with citrus and honey. It's like liquid gold.

Frangelico — Sweet as a nut mate!

Konik's Tail — A grainy yet smooth vodka with it's roots in a madman. Too good to resist.

Porter's Gin — Juniper of course, with subtle citrus, light pink peppercorn and light herbs. Hmm, saucy!

RinQuinQuin — A light and subtle peach aperitif wine. You drink this and think,
"Life is peachy!"

Star of Bombay — With a higher ABV than it's little friend the Sapphire, this smooth gin packs a punch with a subtle weaving of bergamot orange. Earl grey much? Delish
