

TAPPIT HEN

WINE BAR AND RESTAURANT

Wine has been at the heart of 21-23 St. Swithin's Lane's rich and colourful history for over two centuries.

This building housed the UK bottling operations of the renowned Sandeman Port and Sherry company from 1798–1957. For years, Sandeman barrels were shipped from Spain and Portugal up the Thames to London Bridge, from where they were unloaded and rolled up ancient tunnels to our 15th century cellar, before the wine was finally bottled and distributed across the country. Today, that same cellar houses a range of fine wines from leading producers and quintas with vintage Port dating back more than half a century.
