

ALOHA... WELCOME TO TROIPIX!

Our legendary Tropical Mama has passed us this secret manual so we could carry on her traditions for future generations. We can now sip and taste the spectacular flavours of different tropical cocktail islands.

During her historical travels across the tropical islands she has carefully gathered different rums, spices and tropical juices from which she crafted secret recipes for our most welcomed sailors and travellers.

These recipes were re-elaborated by the famous Georgi Radev who added contemporary flavours.

Mama's cocktails are made using unique exotic ingredients, unrefined sugars and the world's finest collection of liquors & rums.

So buckle up safely, take a seat, ride the wave and drink responsibly to avoid sea sickness.

There was once a special lady called Mama from Trinidad and Tobago.

At a time when inequality and class system were dominant factors in society she didn't let such a situation disparage her. Cooking and trying out different tropical dishes was at the root of her passion for adventures. She thus took to the sea in a ship full of fishing sailors.

As such she had the chance to explore the Caribbean islands while the ship docked. She was able to learn about, and collect the various local spices and herbs which she used to enhance her dishes. The fishermen always looked forward to tasting newly found & created dishes from each of the many islands.

Not only did she accumulate new herbs and spices that tickled the sailors' taste buds, she also learnt different cultures which are reflected in her various delicious dishes.

Mama learned the best way to bring people from around the world is through music!

Her parties became famous across any island she set sail to and docked in.

Mama's famous rum blends mixed different tropical juices for the most tropical cocktails.

Over a number of years spent in the sea, the tropical Mama decided to start a new life with her family. She crossed the wide seas and her final port of call was United Kingdom which became her new home.

Mama may have found a new home but her eagerness to share what she had discovered during her voyages grew each day.

Her children and grandchildren grew up with the privilege of eating amazing dishes.

One of her great nephews loved her food so much and surprised her with her own restaurant.

Imagine a place where you could taste the spectacular flavours of different tropical islands and where the food tastes as if Mama herself has cooked it.
